- Mac OS Hardware Support Update for Secure Browser

Apple released new computer models this week that utilize a new type of processor ('M1'), a departure from previous Intel-based processor models. The Secure Browser is temporarily incompatible with this new processor, and CAI is working to update the Secure Browser to support the hardware change.

Note: This hardware change does not affect Secure Browser compatibility with any currently supported MacOS systems owned prior to November 17, 2020.

1. Click TIDE

When updated, the models with a production later are temporarily browser:

- Macbook Air (All models)
- MacBook Pro (Select 13" models with M1 processor configuration)
- Mac Mini (Select models with M1 processor configuration)

Please utilize an alternate supported configuration, such as a Chromebook, supported Windows machine, or supported Intel-based Mac for testing until the Secure Browser has been updated.

Added November 20, 2020
